

LENOX

of orchids displayed at the annual flower show in the Town Building on October 23 and 24. The growers of orchids are Mrs. William E. S. Griswold, Mrs. Carlos de Heredia, Robert W. Paterson, Charles Lanier, Joseph H. Choate, Warren M. Salisbury and Mr. Foster. Besides the orchid display there will be classes for chrysanthemums, roses, violets, carnations and potted plants and a division for vegetables. Some of the exhibitors will be Mrs. John E. Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. William D. Sloan, Mr. and Mrs. William B. O. Field, Mrs. Robert Winthrop, Mr. and Mrs. Giraud Foster, Miss Adele Kneeland and Mrs. Morris K. Jesup.

Europe will attract many of the Lenox cottagers this winter, and although the season in Lenox will be prolonged until the New York horse show, several cottagers will sail early for Europe. Mr. and Mrs. Albert R. Shattuck and Mrs. William Strong will pass the winter abroad. Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Paterson are sailing November 1, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Crowninshield and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shields Clarke and family November 6, and Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Fairfax, Mrs. William B. Bacon and Mr. and Mrs. Carlos de Heredia will be in Europe for the winter months.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Choate set in motion a new idea last week which the Lenox cottagers have been quick to take up. During the absence of the Choate family their villa was given to their help for an entertainment, and the dance which was held had for decorations the best flowers of the greenhouses, and a supper was served in the villa. Mrs. John E. Alexander followed this English manner of entertaining employees and gave a dance for her help. Mr. and Mrs. William B. O. Field also gave a dance for their employees, and others of the colony will do likewise.

The harvest ball which Mr. and Mrs. Field gave on Saturday for the Motor Car Touring Society of New York was one of the most unusual affairs of the season, and on this occasion a new garage at Highlawn was opened. The electric lighting of pumpkins, scarecrows and odd effects arranged by combinations of vegetables was designed by Mr. Field. There were about one hundred at the dance. Members of the Motor Car Touring Society were entertained by the cottagers.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Astor Bristed, who have entertained Mrs. George De Witt and Mrs. Charles Plummer at Lakeside this week, gave several dinners for their guests. Mr. Bristed also gave an auction bridge party, at which Mrs. De Witt and Miss Gertrude Parsons were the principal prizes.

Mrs. Frederic Crowninshield gave the last of her receptions this week. Mr. and Mrs. Crowninshield have given much attention to the Casino affairs during the summer, and there has been a revival of entertainments in the building. Edward A. Crowninshield, who has been in Stockholm with his parents, has gone to Saranac Lake, to join Alfred Vanderbilt's shooting party.

Members of the winter colony in Lenox will be Mr. and Mrs. Bayard U. Livingston, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Delafield, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Slater, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. George B. Blake, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Astor Bristed, Dr. and Mrs. Chandler Post, Miss Kate Cary and Mr. and Mrs. David T. Dana.

Mrs. Charles R. Shepard and Mrs. Spencer Cosby have gone to New York, and will shortly sail for France. They will be in Paris for some time.

HOT SPRINGS

Bal Masque, with Brilliant Costumes, Chief Feature of Week.

Hot Springs, Va., Oct. 18.—Society at Hot Springs interested itself this week in a bal masque, got up by the Misses Julia Robbins, Jeannette and Marie Louise Emmet, of New York; Katherine Fay, of Wellesley Hills and other young people to aid the Red Cross nurse fund. Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, Mrs. Julian W. Robbins, Mrs. Henry G. Emmet and Mrs. Robert Waller, of New York, were patronesses, and over $600 was raised for charity.

Miss Rhoda Tanner, of New York, was awarded the first prize for costumes. She was dressed as a Turkish lady in spangled tissue and wore a headdress of pearls. Miss Marie Louise Emmet, of New York, as a harpist, in rose-colored trousers and dark turtleneck, captured second prize, and third prize went to Miss Julia Robbins, of New York, also in costume of blue and gold embroidered tissue and yellow trousers. Miss Gladys Ingalls, in green and gold Oriental costume and headdress, dancing with Brinton Buckwater, of New York, disguised as a Turk, received first prize for the hesitation waltz. Miss Marian Letzow, of Washington, and Charles Inman, of Hewlett, Long Island, the former in Pierrette costume and the latter in Puritan dress, took first prize in the one-step, while second prize was won by Miss Constance Roberson, of New York, in Pierrette costume, and Brinton Buckwater, of New York, in a domino.

The prize for the best tango went to Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Simons, of New York. Mrs. Simons wearing full length black velvet trousers, white blouse and crimson sash and Mr. Simons garbed as a clown.

Others in fancy dress were Mrs. Seth Barton French, Tyrolean costume of colored embroideries, with headdress of lace and flowers; Miss Marian Fenn, of Boston, Oriental dress with yellow coat and bird of paradise turban; Miss Katherine Fay, crimson and white satin fencing costume, with black velvet lacing and gloves; Miss Jeannette Emmet, of New York, blue and white dairy maid costume; Miss Clarence French, Swiss shepherd boy, with brown velvet knickerbockers, brown leather jacket and blue head handkerchief; Miss Edith Rotch, of Boston, white middie costume; Miss Margaret Seull, of Philadelphia, flower trimmed dress; Miss Marjorie Hancock, Pierrette; Mrs. Julian Girard, of New York, Spanish lady; Miss Helen Alexander, of New York, fancy costume of spangled chiffon.

Ex-Assistant Secretary of the Navy Truman H. N. Berry, of Detroit, and Alfred A. Robert Batchelor, of Washington, were the judges.

Practically all the five hundred persons at the Homestead attended the tango tea given by Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, of New York, some days ago in the Japanese Room of the hotel for the benefit of the Girls' Club, which she has organized for the bath attendants who give the baths to the society women here for the cure. Mrs. Fish was assisted in her duties as hostess by Mrs. Julian Robbins, Mrs. Robert Waller and other society matrons, and Mr. Robbins received the cash receipts at the door. These amounted to more than $60, and were added to the proceeds from a handsome embroidered kimono and knitted sweater, which were raffled off. Miss Eleanor Bright was the winner of the kimono, while Mrs. Robbins captured the sweater. The room was filled with small flower covered tables, at which tea and homemade cake were served and among which dancers threaded their way in the tango and one-step to the music of negro cabaret singers.

The Hunt Club race meet at Fannestown Farm was attended by the entire autumn colony, and more than a score of luncheon parties were given at the farmhouse. Miss Gladys Ingalls won the first blue ribbon in the ladies' saddle class with J. Bird. Mrs. T. Goodman got the red, with Starlight, and Miss Clarence French the white. In the horse and runaway class Miss Mary B. Brooks, of New York, captured first, with Midnight; Mrs. S. B. French second, with Captain, and Barton French's Captain won second in the gentlemen's saddle class. Dixie, a horse that Harrison Higgins, son of the late Governor Higgins of New York bought from a lively stable here last fall, won both the mile track races, defeating Henry Albert's Lady Francis in both events.
